DETAILED ACTION

1. Status of Claims: Claims 1-10 are pending.

Priority

2. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Information Disclosure Statement

3. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 4/7/06 is being considered by the examiner. In regards to the Search report submitted by the applicants, this is not a proper reference in an IDS, though written opinions from the PCT office are proper. The initial search report are merely a listing of references, those references should be listed in the IDS itself.

Claim Objections

4. Claim 2 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. Claim 2 merely provides limitation for the product (the preform) and does not further limit the claim which is an apparatus claim (directing to the device for extracting the preforms).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148

USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

7. Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Coran (20030003187) in view of Chen (6391244).

Coran teaches gripping means and a pivotable turret (see Figures) in an injection molding apparatus. Coran teaches a single row of slits on a plate with two widths (See Figure 3).

Coran fails to teach a plate with slits in parallel rows.

Chen teaches the claimed apparatus having the device for extracting with a plate having slits 94, the slits having a first and second sections and are arranged in parallel rows (see Fig. 3), the first width to allow for a portion of the preform to fit into the slit, and a second width that does not allow for the preforms to pass through and as seen in Figure 3, there are operating means for move the plate in a direction to hook preforms.

It would have been obvious for one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Coran with the plate with parallel slits as taught by Chen to allow for handling multiple articles at the same time.

Allowable Subject Matter

8. Claim 10 is allowed.
9. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: Claim 10 relates to a process claim that utilizes the device of claim 1 and further contains a plate with straight and parallel slits wherein the slits having tooth-shaped constrictions. The closest prior art, Chen, teaches slits with merely a first and second section, not slits having tooth-shaped constrictions. Other prior art references, such as Spurr, teaches bars with such constrictions but the plate are in two pieces that are brought together to clamp the preforms rather than the claimed process operation of the plate.

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Spurr (4140464), Krishnakumar (4786455), Brun, Jr (5653934), van Manen (6520765), Kroege (6652262), and Rommes (2004/0115302).
